SUMMARY

Video editor and content creator who believes digital strategy and creative content are strongest when they come together. I turn ideas into short and long-form video for social media — from hooks and scripts to full post-production in Premiere Pro — always with an eye for what makes an audience actually stop and engage.

A commitment to a more ethical world isn't just a personal value, it shapes every project I take on. Through managing communities for a values-driven organisation, I've built strategies for authentic, engaged audiences, and I want to keep collaborating with brands that share a vision of a more conscious world, using creativity and strategy to craft content that inspires, transforms, and connects.
